TAKES OFF DANDRUFF, HAIR STOPS FALLING

Save your Hair! Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine right now—Also stops itching scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store. You surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Save your hair! Try it!

The Higbee News says that zinc ore went to $112 per ton a week ago and if the Republican party had been in power it would have attributable to the merits of the party. As it is, the European war gets the credit for the high price.

Raise Infertile Eggs

It is conservatively estimated that there is an annual loss in eggs in this county of $45,000,000. Practically all of this enormous loss is sustained by the farmers of this country, as it is on the general farms that the great bulk of eggs is produced. A very great part of this loss can be prevented by the production of infertile eggs, which are laid by hens that do not have a male bird with them. The male bird has no influence whatever on the number of eggs laid. Therefore as soon as the hatching season is over the male bird should be removed from the flock.

The greatest trouble from blood rings in eggs occur in hot weather. Special care should be given to the gathering and storing of eggs during the late spring and summer months. At these times the eggs should be gathered at least twice a day, placed in a room or cellar where the temperature does not rise about 70 degrees F. and marketed at least two or three times a week.

Blood rings are caused by the development of the embryo of a fertile egg and its subsequent death. It is impossible to hatch an infertile egg or cause a blood ring to form in one. It is generally considered that eggs become infertile from 7 to 14 days after the male bird is removed from the flock. Repeated experiments have shown that where fertile and infertile eggs are kept under similar conditions, the fertile spoiled much quicker, due to the fact that they deteriorate much faster than infertile eggs in the average summer temperature. Summer heat has the same effect as the hen of incubator on fertile eggs. Sell, kill or confine the male bird as soon as the hatching season is over. — U. S. Department of Agriculture.

DOUBLY PROVEN

Keytesville Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

This grateful citizen testified long ago.

Told of quick relief—of undoubted benefit.

The facts are now confirmed.

Such testimony is complete—the evidence conclusive.

It forms convincing proof of merit.

George Hill, printer, Glasgow, Mo., says: "I had a great deal of trouble from my kidneys and back. Sometimes the pains in my back were sharp and then again they changed to a dull, throbbing ache. My kidneys were weak and I couldn't rest well. I used several remedies, but wasn't helped until I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills. They acted fine and almost before I knew it, I was free from the trouble. That happened over a year ago, and I have not been bothered since."

CURED FOR FIVE YEARS.

On October 22, 1912, Mr. Hill said: "I can still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, and confirm the endorsement I gave before. I haven't had to use a kidney remedy since."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Hill had. Foster-McIlburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Conserve Moisture

Warning is being issued for the farmers who have an abundance, too much rain, now, to prepare to conserve this abundance and make it work for them later on. The moisture runs off and evaporates rapidly. The proposition is to get the water that is in the ground to remain there during July and August when the corn so often needs rain. The best process known now is to make a dirt or dust mulch on the surface as is so often done in the dry countries. When the ground is hard on the surface and cracked, the moisture gets out of the ground mighty rapidly. Then the ground is broken and loose on the top the chain of solid matter through which the moisture works its way to the surface is broken and the loose dirt is a blanket on to the field to cover the moist ground underneath. This mulching process is familiar to all farmers in the dry countries and here, with the system of drainage that rapidly takes the water off the surface into the rivers, it is beginning to be a proposition to keep the moisture that falls so rapidly now and hoard it against a dry season. Deeper fall ploughing and keeping the surface of the ground well worked will do much for the corn through even a very dry season.

Naturalized but not neutralized—universal peace but more guns and ammunition.
